1 This claim is erroneously $30,000 and should correctly be $62,079.

2 No Caption – Analogous Wording To Docket #369

3 There is no caption on the upper right part of the first page because there was no hearing or 4 motion to approve claims. Rather, the trustee's attorney submitted suggested "Order Allowing 5 Claims" in Docket #368 absent any motion to approve claims for which a purported "Order 6 Allowing Claims" would have been relevant.

7
8 Similar to docket entry #369 "Tsai Law Company's Objection To Proposed Order On Claims"
9 (See Exhibit "1") which objects to a proposed order absent any motion to approve the order, I
10 have similarly submitted this document, "Objection to Proposed Order On Claims."

11 Correct Amount Already Approved By The Court Should Be Used

12 The allocation of $30,000 to the Tsai Law Company PLLC for Chapter 11 administrative 13 claims shown by the Trustee on Page 9 of the proposed order is not correct.

14 The Court has already found that fees, costs, and expenses in the amount of $62,079 (Docket 15 No. 196) were "reasonable" and therefore ordered that they be "approved" provisionally. This 16 seems to imply "provisionally" until such time that all other claims of equal priority can also be 17 paid at 100%. That time is now thus the approval is no longer provisional. The correct amount 18 already approved of $62,079 should be reflected in the claims.
19

20 The Tsai Law Company PLLC should be praised by the trustee

21 Emily Tsai, more than any other person, deserves the Nobel Prize in Protecting and 22 Preserving the assets of the estate.

24 First, the trustee has complained about redacted parts of their billings but others have said that 25 their billings were slightly understated; I do not wish to waive attorney-client privilege but to the 26 extent possible, I concur with this statement made by others.

1 Second, Emily Tsai was the only person in the court room on November 15, 2010, who 2 correctly understood bankruptcy law and the jurisdiction of the bankruptcy court when she 3 started to address the court, "I just wanted to bring to the Court's attention the issue of the 4 bankruptcy and the powers of the bankruptcy court" before being interrupted twice, resulting in 5 an error of law propagated to today that the trustee recently stated would cost an additional 6 $25,000 in litigation expenses to correct.

7
8 The Declaration "DECLARATION OF ADAM R. GROSSMAN VOLUME I OF X" dated 9 August 28, 2012 is incorporated by reference.

10 Third, in November, 2010, two or more people, possibly three who received financial benefit 11 paid by the same organization, agreed in advance to engage in or causing the performance of such 12 conduct that included making false statements known to be false by the speaker(s) at the time they 13 were made and omitting facts or suppressing information which, in light of the circumstances 14 under which they were made, would be necessary to make the statements not misleading, or to 15 employ a scheme or artifice or to engage in any act, practice, or course of conduct for the 16 purpose, intent, and goal of knowingly and willfully misrepresenting to people, or failing to 17 inform them, of material facts upon which they relied, directly or indirectly, in connection with 18 the purchase of sale of securities offered by the Tanager Fund LP, regulated by the SEC and filed 19 under Regulation D §504 and §505 exempt from registration but subject to the full force and 20 powers pursuant to The Act, as amended, with restrictions set forth therein including the use of 21 any means or instrumentality of interstate commerce, or of the U.S. Mail, or of electronic wires 22 across state lines, for the ultimate goal of deceiving other people, defrauding investors, and taking 23 the property belonging to one or more people. The Tsai Law Company consistently opposed this 24 defrauding of investors.

1 Fourth, Jill Borodin directly and/or through her attorney falsely represented the ownership of 2 property, assets or the equivalent value in the amounts of $255,000, $101,617, $281,619, 3 $278,000, and $255,000 (again) and $215,000 which have been cited to justify the attempted, and 4 twice successful fraudulent or unauthorized taking, of property belonging to other people, 5 companies, or assets claimed by the bankruptcy estate.

6 Fifth, this included the removal post-petition; without prior approval of the bankruptcy court;
7 absent notice, a motion, and a hearing; not while acting as debtor in possession; nor in the course 8 of business; for no present consideration; and for no future consideration, assets claimed by the 9 bankruptcy estate which have yet to be returned and for which liability to the estate for this 10 unauthorized removal potentially still exists.

11 Sixth, only due to the efforts of the Tsai Law Company PLLC, is the estate not facing a deficit
12 nearly $1m worse than it is now as the Tsai Law Firm steadfastly, and generally successfully,
13 opposed the false and fraudulent representations that have defrauded investors and overstated 14 assets in the estate.

8) OBJECTION TO PROPOSED
ORDER ON CLAIMS

9 Special Counsel for Debtor Tsai Law Company PLLC, objects to the proposed Order 10 Allowing Claims insofar as Tsai Law Company's Chapter 11 administrative claim amount is 11 shown by the Trustee as $30,000 on page 9 of the proposed Order, when in actuality, the Court 12 has approved Tsai Law Company's compensation request in the Chapter 11 proceeding in 13 amount of $62,079 (Docket No. 196 attached). Tsai Law Company requests that the Order 14 Allowing Claims accurately reflect the approved amount.
